Service

Hello children, parents and carers.

It has been another busy week and children have now started all their new class books and topics as well as enrichment afternoons on Friday and after school clubs. However, it seems we have barely started this new school year and October is already here. The weather is getting colder, nights are drawing in and nature is beginning to show autumn colours.

Next week, children will be looking more closely at nature and the environment as it is the theme for National Poetry Day on Thursday 6th October. Each class will be spending time reading and listening to poetry and have the opportunity to enter a school poetry competition. Winners will be announced the following week and a display in the library will celebrate all their hard work.

If you would like to enjoy some poetry this weekend, then visit www.bbc.co.uk/teach/school-radio/english-ks2-talking-poetry to hear a range of poets including Michael Rosen and Benjamin Zephaniah perform some of their favourite poems.

Finally, have a lovely weekend and a well-deserved rest. Keep reading!

Safeguarding: Young Carers

There are probably more young carers out there than you think. They take on extra responsibilities, like dressing the person they look after, cooking, cleaning, shopping, collecting prescriptions. It's a lot to take on as a child. By definition, a young carer is someone under the age of 18 who looks after a family member or friend who has a physical or mental health condition, or misuses drugs or alcohol. They may also look after brothers, sisters or elderly relatives too. Young carers are recognised at the age of 5 years old, however there could be child carers even younger. There are an estimated 800,000 Young Carers in England, but this number could be a lot higher as people do not always know the responsibility children have within their homes.

Here at St Clement's Academy we ensure we develop an understanding of the whole child and any support they may need. We work with Spurgeons, who are an organisation that support Young Carers across the city. There is also a nationwide fight being promoted by the Children's Society to get proper support for Young Carers and help them access further education and training. If you think your child is carrying out Young Carer responsibilities or you know a child who is, then please come and see Miss Akers for further advice and support.

UNICEF Rights of the Child

Article 28: Best interests of the child

When adults make decisions, they should think about how their decisions will affect children. All adults should do what is best for children. Governments should make sure children are protected and looked after by their parents, or by other people when this is needed. Governments should make sure that people and places responsible for looking after children are doing a good job.
